Distillery in Scotland

This whiskey & gin distillery stands on the vast landscape, located in the Speyside region the holy land of Scotch whiskey. Almost 1,000 years after the arrival of distillation technology in Scotland, this project is to create a new homemade whiskey and gin bearing its own brand name.

This project proposes different designs corresponding to each function of the distillery's activities, and to layout them on the site interactively. Blended into the Speyside forests, this Whiskey & Gin Distillery is a magnificent landscape views created by a series of timber structures settled on the prairie of the River Spey.
