

Year: 2011
Location: Japan
Program: Retail and Commercial

Kushinoya

Located in the Daimaru department store in Osaka Station. The façade is veiled in an ethereal white string curtain that slightly reveals the interior activity. A wooden lattice wraps the ceiling and walls. This lattice is composed of numerous pieces of timber strips, hand assembled into a three-dimensional matrix. The floors are tiled with mosaics to match the scale of the lattice, and to create a unified space.