Year: 1985
Location: United States
Program: Exhibition, Museum

Emilio Ambasz Exhibitions

Organized by La Jolla Museum of Contemporary Art in California, the Emilio Ambasz Exhibitions were designed for flexible arrangement and easy global transportation. Square-section paper tubes comprised the frame of the display units, which were made of flat-folding honeycomb screens, while paper tubes of different diameters fitting into each other served as legs for the model stands.