

Year: 1991
Location: Japan
Program: House

Villa Kuru

With intentions of framing the extraordinary mountain landscape, a rough stone wall was placed parallel to the street to contrast the view upon approach and entry. A circular core containing wet spaces and a square core with bedrooms provide the main structure, allowing a cantilevering floor to thrust out towards the mountains, offering unobstructed panoramic scenery.