

Year: 2014
Location: France
Program: Office and Headquarters

Le Monde Headquarters

A design competition for the new headquarters for the French media company, Le Monde. Configuration of the building was driven by structural restrictions of the site which is located above the train tracks, as well as zoning regulations. A light weight timber structure in combination with various renewable energy methods were proposed.