

Year: 2003
Location: Japan
Program: Education

Paper Studio

By building this paper tube arch structure, the architecture students of the Ban Laboratory at Keio University not only created their own studio for design, study, and presentation, but by sequentially being designer, craftsman, and user, they also gained broad practical knowledge.